practical experience

Tyron Willey is an Associate in ENSafrica's Competition / Anti-Trust department.

Tyron's experience includes advising on the notifiability and drafting of statutory merger notifications to the competition authorities in South Africa and various other jurisdictions in sub-Saharan Africa, as well as the regional competitor regulator, the COMESA Competition Commission.

Tyron also has experience as part of the ENSafrica team acting in high-profile complaint referral proceedings before the Competition Tribunal and has a particular interest in abuse of dominance.

Tyron has assisted on matters spanning a wide range of industries including, inter alia, banking, infrastructure, listed property and mining.

He is a contributing editor for the Butterworth's Competition Law Reports and has written articles on contemporary developments in South African competition law for Business Law and Tax Review.
